

Grading Rubric

CW = classwork

HW = Homework

TT = Chapter Team Test

4

- You get it.
- Bell to bell, never stops. (CW)
- All problems attempted authentically. (HW)
- Mathematical results are correct. (TT)
- I can understand your thinking clearly. (TT)

3

- You mostly get it.
- Bell to bell, 1 redirection. (CW)
- Most problems attempted authentically. (HW)
- Mathematical results are almost correct. (TT)
- I can understand most of your thinking clearly. (TT)

2

- You sort of get it.
- Bell to bell, minimal redirections. (CW)
- Half the problems attempted authentically. (HW)
- Mathematical results are somewhat correct. (TT)
- I can understand some of your thinking. (TT)

1

- You get it, a little.
- Works consistently for about half the period. (CW)
- More than half the problems are not attempted authentically. (HW)
- Mathematical results are not correct. (TT)
- I can see some thinking. (TT)

0

- You don't get it.
- Inconsistent/minimal work, throughout period. (CW)
- No homework attempted. (HW)
- Student does not participate in task. (TT)
- I can't understand your thinking. (TT)

Grading Categories

25% Classwork

10% Homework

10% Chapter Tests

30% Skills Test

10% Mid-Term

10% Final

5% Participation

4-Point Rubric Grading Scale

A

3.3 to 4.0

B

2.6 to 3.2

C

2.0 to 2.5

D

1.5 to 1.9

F

0 to 1.4

To: GHS Parents
From: GHS Math Department

Over the past 2 years, the Glendale High School Math Department has changed from a traditional percentage grading scale to a 4-point rubric grading scale. Unfortunately, the current grading program, Q was not designed to record this type of grading system.

We have found a way to modify the grading program to show the rubric scores and grades, but the tricks we made, unfortunately, show up on the student and parent screen.

Please take note of the following when viewing you child's grades:

1. The points possible for every assignment will always be 100 points.
2. The percentage symbol next to their grade needs to be ignored.

The letter grade and the number next to it will correspond to the 4-point grading rubric.